Dear Stephen,

Thank you for your very thoughtful note. I enjoyed being at the IBS dinner.

There has been a major social change in this country, but in my view that does not in any way lessen the fact that we need a viable foreign intelligence capability.

I think I already see signs that the public is beginning to resupport this concept. I'm not arguing that we should violate the law - I am saying that this concept of "breaking up the CIA" that was prevalent a few months ago would be disastrous for our country and I don't think that it will prevail.

Thanks for writing.

Sincerely,

/s/ George Bush
